

I would like to say that the FCC has no right to limit XM Satellite Radio or Satellite Radio period. It's my right to listen to the programming that they provide. As long as local and national media outlets allow them to use and air their radio stations such as traffic and weather channels, then let the consumer decide. It's are 1st amendment right.